Enrolled Agents (EA) are known as "America's Tax Experts" and are the only federally licensed tax practitioners by IRS who have proven technical expertise in the field of taxation and are empowered by the U. S. Department of the Treasury to represent taxpayers for audits, collections and appeals before all administrative levels of IRS.

Enrolled Agent status is the highest credential the IRS (Internal Revenue Service) awards and must adhere to the same ethical standards as attorneys and certified public accountants.

Refer to www.naea.org for further information about the Enrolled Agent profession as it relates to income tax preparation, representing taxpayers with IRS problems, amending tax returns, helping clients negotiate and settle their tax debts or liens with IRS, file late tax returns, etc.

Real estate vet joins property group

One of the area's largest local commercial property management companies announced that Paul Miller has joined the firm as chief operating officer.

"Paul not only brings a wealth of knowledge and experience in the local real estate industry, but has developed great insight and vision which will enable him to help us reach our strategic goals," Sean Turner, president and owner, said.

Turner was recently listed as one of the largest local commercial real estate property managers with over 5 million square feet managed.

Miller's distinguished 25-year real estate journey has included his association most recently with Todd Duplain as part of Ascent Real Estate Advisors, RG Properties, Colliers International, CBRE, and Miller Valentine; and has included property management, leasing, acquisitions, dispositions and strategic marketing initiatives.

Paul has served on several boards. He was president of Dayton Rotary, chairman of the DABR Commercial and Industrial Committee, and trustee chairman for Miami Valley Housing Opportunities, to name a few.
